

Seafarer COVID-19 Welfare Survey

The BMA, along with the entire maritime industry recognises that the coronavirus pandemic has had an enormous impact on the mental health and wellbeing of seafarers and is carrying out a survey to hear directly from you about your experiences. This is your opportunity to identify the steps you feel should be taken by the industry to support you.

The aim of the survey is to collect as much information as possible about the everyday experiences of all front-line seafarers, regardless of flag, so that your opinions can directly guide decisions taken to improve the livelihoods of those who serve at sea.

The survey is completely anonymous, so you can be assured of confidentiality, and is being undertaken in collaboration with researchers at the University of Washington School of Public Health.

The BMA would like to thank you for taking the time to complete this survey.

[Access Survey
Here](#)

About this survey

- The electronic survey will take about 10 minutes to complete.
- The survey is anonymous, and all results will be kept confidential at the University of Washington.
- You don't have to answer any questions you don't want to.